

The image shows a large, empty rectangular frame. Inside this frame, positioned in the upper-left area, is a smaller rectangular box. This inner box contains five horizontal dashed lines, spaced evenly, which is a common format for handwriting practice or a simple text entry field. The lines are parallel and extend across the width of the inner box. There are also two small vertical tick marks on the bottom edge of the inner box, near the left side.

25 7

-100Pa

---

---

---

---

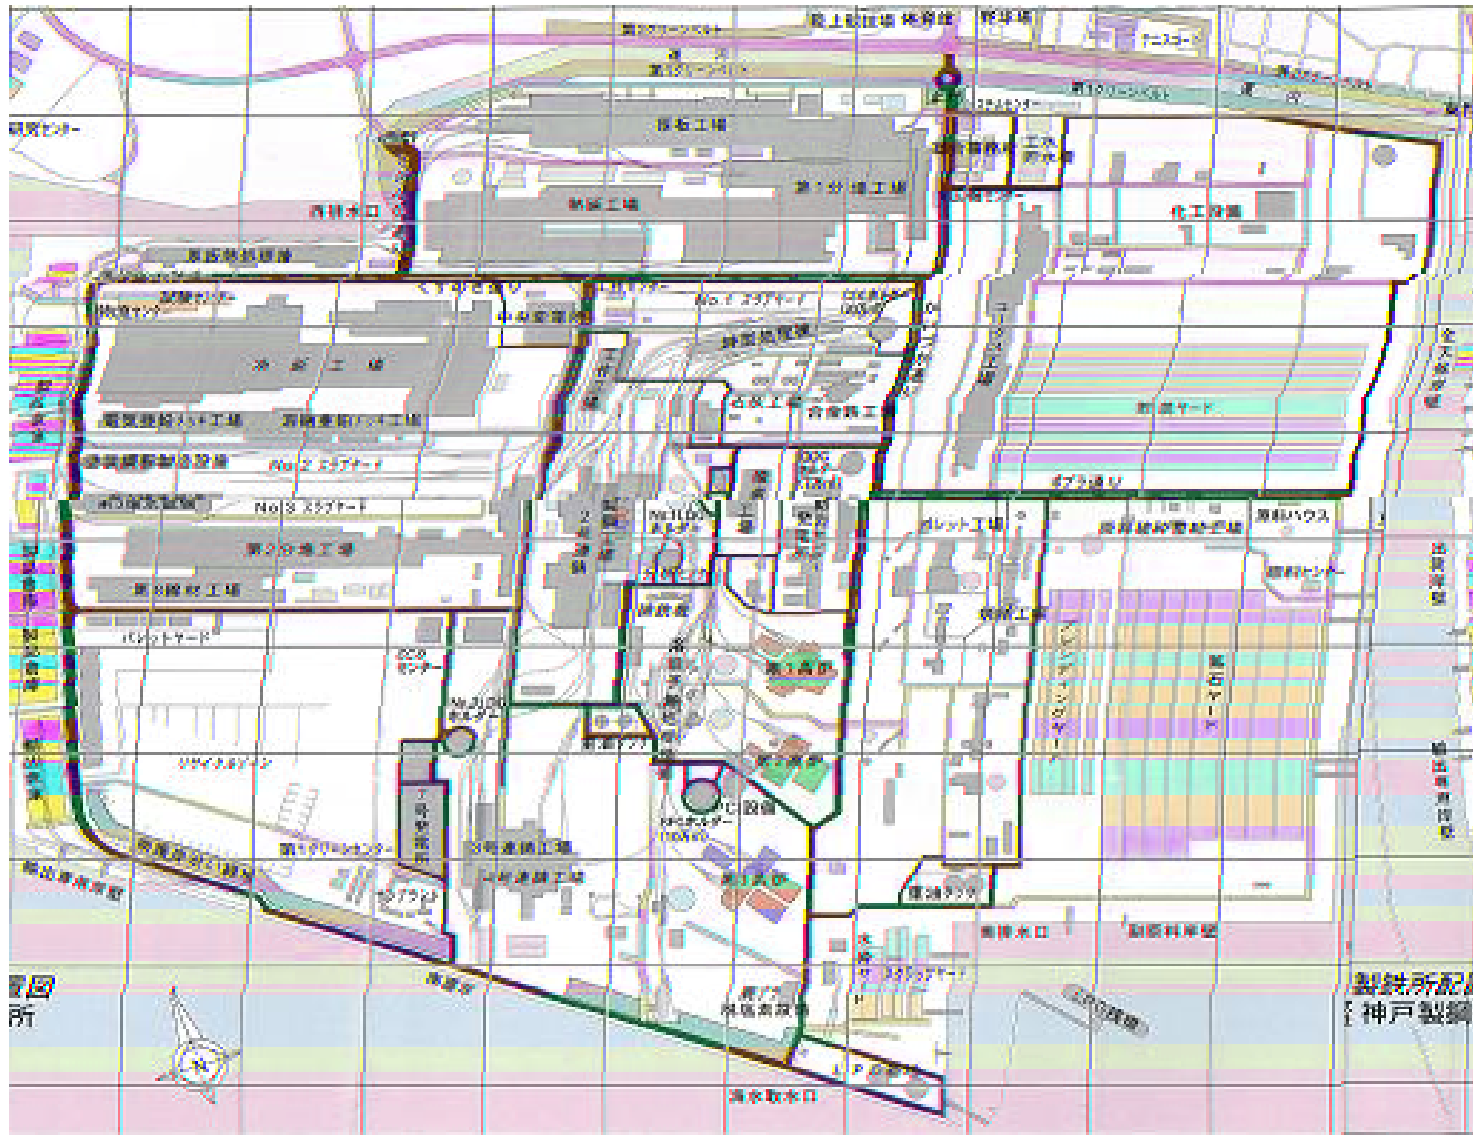

---

---

---

26 5

A large rectangular box with a thin black border. Inside this box is a smaller rectangular box, also with a thin black border. The inner box contains ten horizontal dashed lines, evenly spaced, extending across its width. This layout is typical of a handwriting practice sheet or a template for a document header.

26 5

